Water damage is one of the most dangerous situations for any business to face as it is often a silent, destructive force. When left to sit, any serious moisture event has the potential to become far more problematic as it begins to quickly erode the structural integrity of any building and contaminate the atmosphere of any room. As water sits on your property, following a major storm or pipe burst for example, it could leak through the walls, the floorboards, and spaces invisible to the naked eye. Left longer, mold and microbial growth begin to form and render the entire space as a serious hazard to yourself and your employees.

If your business finds itself stuck with any degree of water damage, don't hesitate: get in touch with Cotton Global Disaster Solutions urgently to begin our comprehensive mitigation and restoration process. Our experienced crew and our state-of-the-art technology will expertly assess the damage and determine a critical path for the recovery of all affected property.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR BUSINESS HAS EXPERIENCED WATER DAMAGE

- Identify the source and shut it off to eliminate the risk of further damage.
- Contact Cotton immediately to extract excess water and mitigate the water damage.
- Do not enter rooms with standing water until electricity has been turned off.
- Once it's safe to enter, remove personal items, important documents, and furniture from the affected area.
- Be sure to wear protective gear, such as a mask, to avoid contamination.
- Monitor the affected area to keep unauthorized personnel from entering.
