Creativity Without Criticism, Competition And Comparison Is A Rewarding And Meditative Practice, Highly Beneficial To Health & Well Being - Welcoming And Inclusive To All!

Meditation and other stress-reduction techniques, such as focused crafts have been studied as treatments for depression and anxiety. Stress and anxiety can often feel debilitating and we're here to help. Join a group of people who understand you, holding no judgment or expectation, to help you find ways to heal.

Meditative Crafts sessions with Kelsey and friends explores engaging, interactive, yet highly-focused meditative ways to channel our anxieties elsewhere in order to quiet our mind and find peace within ourselves, such as:

- Painting, drawing and art projects
- Coloring mandalas
- Vision boards
- Jewelry making
- Knitting
- Therapeutic oils
- Journaling
- Chakras and chanting
- Breathing techniques
- Guided meditation
- Group discussion and support

Each monthly session will highlight a new, fun activity for the group. All instruction and supplies provided. Let Meditative Crafts be that light for you and come begin your journey of healing inside and out!
