COVID-19 Statement

The safety of our customers, employees, and the support staff at the facilities we visit is of the utmost importance to us. We will be closely monitoring local and state regulatory policies and local transmission rates regarding COVID-19 in the months and weeks leading up to this event. If needed, we will switch the event to meeting virtually instead of in person. We will try to make this decision with as much lead time as possible, but we recommend only booking travel that can be refunded/cancelled/rescheduled just in case. In the event of a move to a virtual workshop, you will be given the option to transfer your registration to the new event with a partial refund for any cost differential, postpone your registration to a future institute, or cancel your registration for a full refund.
