ACP International was founded in 1986. From humble beginnings in a small, single-wide trailer house to a comprehensive manufacturing facility in Arlington, Texas, ACP has provided services to many small and large companies for decades. The company also developed Concrete Graphics®, a specialty sign product that withstands foot traffic. And in 2009, ACP acquired SA-SO signs and safety, a traffic and safety company.

The company has consistently grown and improved processes. By listening carefully to customers' customization and specification needs, ACP is able to offer personalized service efficiently. Many employees have worked for ACP for decades. In today's business world, where people change jobs often and companies facilitate layoffs, ACP is proud to stand against that trend. The company's business model, longevity in the printing industry, and solid relationship with vendors and customers has created an environment of success.
