

LONE STAR LEADERSHIP ACADEMY FAQs

What is Education in Action?

Education in Action is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated to empowering young people to be informed and active leaders in their communities. We fulfill this mission by providing the Lone Star Leadership Academy camp experience for young Texas leaders.

What is the Lone Star Leadership Academy?

Lone Star Leadership Academies are weeklong (Sunday-Friday) summer camps for outstanding Texas 4th-8th graders. Young leaders from across Texas meet in Dallas/Fort Worth, Austin/San Antonio, or Houston/Galveston for a week of fun, learning, leadership development, and visits to unique and historically significant Texas destinations. Each day students explore notable Texas sites, learn about unique careers from professionals at sites visited, and develop their leadership abilities during leadership groups with their facilitators. Staff to student ratio is 1:10. Because of the academic nature of the program, adult facilitators are Texas teachers. In addition to improving their leadership abilities, participants gain self-confidence and independence and develop new friendships with other high-achieving students from across the state. Upon completion of the program, each participant receives a Lone Star Leader Certificate of Merit to be added to his or her academic achievements. Lone Star Leadership Academy camps include:

Leadership Groups: Participants are assigned to Leadership Groups. One Facilitator is assigned to each small Leadership Group of students. Leadership Groups give students the opportunity to develop friendships with other students, analyze speakers' remarks, discuss important issues, reflect on program activities, prepare for upcoming events, and form a strong relationship with their Facilitator. Facilitators lead Leadership Group meetings, guide participants through program activities, and work directly with students to make their week a rich and rewarding experience.

Leadership Notebook: Each participant receives a Leadership Notebook containing a detailed program schedule, speakers' biographies, site information, and special interest stories. Leadership Notebooks include materials to enhance the educational value of sites visited and are used to facilitate discussions and individual and group activities. Leadership Notebooks are also designed to be used as a reference in participants' classes upon their return to school.

Simulations: Learning objectives are extended through simulations relating to each day's leadership skill of the day. Simulations promote reasoning skills and teach critical thinking by encouraging students to ask their own questions. Studies demonstrate that students involved in a hands-on learning environment retain a higher percentage of information than those learning through one methodology, such as rote memorization. The purpose of simulations is to motivate and promote students' abilities to participate as informed citizens in a democratic society.

Career Speakers: During the program, participants have the opportunity to learn about a variety of unique careers from speakers at sites visited. Presenters discuss education requirements, a typical day, and the pros and cons of their professions. Students have the opportunity to ask questions and explore future career options.

When are the camps?

The Sunday-Friday camps are offered in each location most weeks throughout the summer. Camp dates for each location are available in the camp application and at www.educationinaction.org/dates.

What are the program requirements?

Participants maintain an overall average of B (85 or 3.5) or higher, are recommended by a school counselor, teacher, or principal based on demonstrated leadership ability, and are involved in school or community activities. Students must also submit a program application and fee by the application deadline.

For what program may a student sign up?

The grade the student is in during the school year prior to the summer they are participating determines programs in which they are eligible to participate.

2018-2019 4th, 5th, & 6th graders may apply for 2019 Lone Star Leadership Academy – Dallas/Fort Worth camps.*

2018-2019 5th, 6th, & 7th graders may apply for 2019 Lone Star Leadership Academy – Austin/San Antonio camps.*

Lone Star Leadership Academies are best experienced in the order listed above (Dallas/Fort Worth, Austin/San Antonio, then Houston/Galveston). Education in Action recommends that all 4th, 5th, and 6th graders sign up for the Dallas/Fort Worth program first so that in the future they will be able to participate in all Lone Star Leadership Academy programs should they desire to do so.*

Are there any opportunities for participants once they have completed the Lone Star Leadership Academy?

Lone Star Leadership Academy alumni are invited to participate in Education in Action's alumni organization, the Lone Star Leadership Academy Alumni Council, to continue their leadership development during the school year. The alumni program provides members with continued leadership training and opportunities to exercise their leadership skills including creating and leading service projects in their community and returning on Lone Star Leadership Academy camps as Youth Facilitators.

Who are the adult staff members?

Because of the academic nature of the camp, all facilitators are Texas educators. Student/staff member ratio is 10:1. In addition to the facilitators, there is a Director and an Assistant Director on each program. Each year Education in Action conducts a background check on all adult staff members prior to the summer programs.

Are students supervised at all times?

Yes. The schedule is very structured and at no time are students unsupervised. At registration parents receive a detailed agenda of what sites participants are visiting and/or activities they are participating in at all times during the program week. There are no fewer than two female adults in each girls' group lodging room and no fewer than two male adults in each boys' group lodging room to supervise students overnight.

What are the lodging facilities like?

Lodging facilities for all Lone Star Leadership Academy camps are air-conditioned, group bunk dormitories with private showers. Lone Star Leadership Academy participants and at least two program Facilitators are housed in each dorm. Each participant brings a sleeping bag or twin sheets, blanket, and pillow for their bed.

Twin-size egg crate foam pads are permitted but not required.*

Are student cell phones permitted?

Student cell phones are not permitted on Lone Star Leadership Academy camps. This includes use of a cell phone as a camera. Personal digital cameras and disposable cameras are encouraged. Education in Action encourages students to write home regularly to their parents, siblings, and other relatives. Parents are encouraged to give students pre-addressed, stamped envelopes or postcards so they can write home.

How can parents/family get mail to campers?

Parents/family need to bring mail they would like their student to receive during their week at camp to registration on Sunday with each piece of mail labeled with the day they would like it delivered. Staff members deliver mail to students each day at breakfast. Education in Action asks that parents/family NOT mail letters via the post office to students during their camp week as the letters often arrive at camp after the students have already returned home. Education in Action cannot guarantee that students will receive mail sent via the post office.

Do students call home during the week?

Students do not call home during the program week. For students riding the bus from Dallas/Fort Worth to the Austin/San Antonio or Houston/Galveston programs, Education in Action posts a notice on Facebook.com/EducationInAction after the bus arrives at the location along with the time they arrived. In addition, camp photos are posted online daily.

The Director has a cell phone with them at all times during the camp. Parents are provided with this phone number so they may contact the group at any time in case of an emergency. If anything out of the ordinary, medical or otherwise, happens with a student during the camp, the Director notifies the parent immediately. In cases of homesickness or aches/pains, sometimes the student just needs to call home and we allow them to do this on the Director's cell phone. We encourage parents to remind their students that the adults on the program are available to help them in any way they can and to remind their students to tell an adult if they need anything while they are on the program.

Are updates provided to parents throughout the program week?

Yes. Camp pictures are posted online daily. Education in Action notifies parents each time new pictures are uploaded throughout the program week via Facebook.com/EducationInAction and Twitter.com/eiatexas.

What if an applicant doesn't have medical insurance?

Education in Action requires that all participants have medical insurance during their time on the program so they will be able to receive care in the event of a medical emergency. If an applicant does not have medical insurance, the parent may purchase a temporary policy. If temporary insurance will be used, a Temporary Insurance Acknowledgement Form, available at <http://educationinaction.org/lone-star-leadership-academy/fags>, must be completed and submitted with the student's camp application. Education in Action works with CampDoc.com as an option for temporary insurance. Please contact 817-562-4957 or email admissions@educationinaction.org for more information.

How will a student know if their application was accepted?

Completed applications are accepted on a first-come, first-considered basis. The application indicates for the applicant to list their 1st, 2nd, and 3rd program date choices. Date requests will be honored based on availability. Because programs fill quickly, Education in Action encourages students to apply early to increase the chances of getting their preferred program date. If the applicant's first three program date choices are not available, Education in Action will contact the applicant's parent with any remaining available dates. Upon acceptance into the Lone Star Leadership Academy each participant receives a Welcome Packet including student program guidelines, a packing list, a sample program agenda, and a press release to distribute to the local news media. Welcome Packets are mailed to accepted students prior to the start of their program week.

Rhonda Richardson, Lone Star Leadership Academy Programs Director, is available to answer any additional questions at 817-562-4957 or rrichardson@educationinaction.org.
