

“Why Does Inclusive Teaching Matter?”

Self-Reflection Assignment Sample Directions and Rubric

Directions: Thank you for participating in our in-class discussion on inclusive teaching. Now, I am asking you to self-reflect on this exercise. Please address the following in your submission:

1. How familiar were you with inclusive teaching before this exercise?
2. What did you learn from this in-class activity?
3. Consider your own experience in the classroom (from childhood until now) – have you ever experienced a lack of inclusive education in the classroom? If it impacted you directly, reflect upon how (if you would prefer not to discuss, choose an experience that did not directly impact you). If not, reflect upon how that would feel.
4. Consider at least one way in which you can help make your learning environments more inclusive.

Note: This self-reflection could also require outside research done by the student to extend their knowledge on the topic.

“Why Does Inclusive Teaching Matter? Rubric

Area	Possible Points		Student Points	Comments
Familiarity The student explains their beginning familiarity on inclusive teaching.	10
Learning The student explains what they learned about inclusive teaching.	10
Personal Experience The student shares a self-reflection on inclusive teaching in their own learning environments.	15
Application The student shares at least one way they can contribute to an inclusive learning environment.	15

Additional Comments: