Teach Your Mom How to Use Her Smartphone

Xiaoli Li
University of Dayton

Project Grading

10 percent of the course grade was assigned to this project because it is an opportunity to apply what they have learned at this point in this semester such as audience analysis, instructions writing, document design, and usability testing.

More important, the assignment is designed for students to understand the importance of "translating" technical information into plain language for their non-technical users.

This assignment has been treated as a process-based assignment. So grading reflects the whole working process.

User research (Interview):	10 points
Planning:	15 points
Writing and designing:	50 points
Testing:	10 points
Reflection:	15 points