Back to School!

Hard to believe it's time to plan for the kiddos to head back to school already, so remember August 10th-12th is your Tax Free Weekend and Nature's Treasures will be offering 10% off storewide. You can still have a fun filled play day this SATURDAY, AUGUST 4th from 11:00am to 4:00pm at our 5th Annual RockFest celebration. This is our way to celebrate the appointment of August 8th as Nature's Treasures Day by the City of Austin with free games, prizes and fun for the whole family. Watch for clues on Facebook for the next 2 days for our Citywide Treasure Hunt to go out into the city and find our hidden rocks (which you get to keep) and enter to win an Amethyst Cathedral plus other amazing prizes. Come play with the rocks and have lunch with us this Saturday.

Thanks to all for your patience with our skeleton crew on July 11th when the whole company met onsite to participate in our Annual Company Planning meeting. We do this every year to make your experience at Nature's Treasures the best we can offer and to plan our future growth and development.

For my Summer vacation and to get out of the Texas heat, I was blessed with the opportunity to visit the giant Redwoods in northern California once again. If you haven't had the chance to do this in your lifetime, put it on your bucket list ASAP. Talk about feeling close to Nature! There is some soul rocking going on when you hug one of these majestic wonders.

It was great saying "Hello" to and seeing everyone at the Body Mind and Spirit Expo last month. Thanks to all who came by the booth and found treasures to take home.

Last, but by no means least, is the reminder to breath through this next phase of our infamous Mercury in retrograde that started on July 25th and runs until August 18th.

August's Birthstone

Peridot

Peridot, the bright green variety of Olivine, is often called the study stone. Peridot healing properties are known to increase mental focus by making the mind more receptive to learning new things. Keep Peridot in your workspace or office and always have constant access to its powerful properties that give you the strength to persevere, especially during times of challenging academic pursuits. It was also believed by the Romans to be a wonderful medicine for depression. Keep a Peridot stone in your pocket or wear it as jewelry and use it as your daily antidepressant that protects you from negative energy while bolstering a sense of self-worth and motivation. Always stay in the direction of the light with Peridot, the feel good stone in the world of crystal healing.

In the Community

Our Community Events Director, Folade, gave a greatly appreciated talk to participants in the Euphoria Pre-Festival Workshop Series. This introductory workshop gave participants the opportunity to learn about the healing benefits of the Quartz family of crystals including Quartz Crystal, Rose Quartz, Amethyst, Citrine and more!

The most precious gift we have is time, and what better way to give back to Mother Nature than cleaning house a bit! Nature's Treasures teamed up with Mermaids for Clean Water and Cherrywood Coffee House to put on the Willowbrook Reach Clean-Up on July 14. Keep an eye out for quarterly clean-ups to be held in the Nature's Treasures area.

On August 5th Nature's Treasures will be in San Antonio for the Healing Arts Festival & Market! If you have never been, it's worth a drive down to see all of the vendors, practitioners, presenters and demonstrations. The drum circle alone is worth the drive.

Nature's Treasures believes that healing is especially important not only for those that have experienced trauma, but for the individuals helping trauma victims recover. The Texas Association Against Sexual Assault said this in response to a recent donation "We want to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for such a generous donation for our Texas Preventioners. The stones are so beautiful and (we) can tell they were picked out intentionally for their properties in connection to our work."

Basalt: The Rock of Orisa Aganju
By Folade Speaks

For years, crooning summer Saturday afternoons, my house speakers reverberating this mysterious melody, Aganju- a song written and originally performed by Carlinhos Brown. Remade a bit more fluid by the Brazilian siren, Bebel Gilberto. The Portuguese hypnotic qualities in the chorus had me singing along for years before I was like:

"Wait... What am I singing?"

As it turns out, in the Santeria, Lukumi, and Candomble faiths (Yoruba Pantheon), there is an Orisa named Aganju, who is God of the volcano, explosives and forest. As energy practitioner, as I work with volcanic rock and witness the metaphysical qualities of Basalt (Lava Rock), I am melted by the similarities between Basalt and Aganju. This Orisa embodies the essence and power of Lava Rock.

Basalt is often found on the ocean floor, which I believe contributes to its emotionally supportive and nurturing qualities. Basalt is formed after volcanic fire has erupted and boiled over to form various paths of lava, hardened and cooled over several months. Ironically, Aganju is exalted as Orisa who governs paths of the Underworld and Underground. He is an antiquitous cave expert who knows maps and paths that lead to freedom. Basalt is one of the primary rocks that lead us from situations that have resulted in inner and outer captivity.

Meet Our Staff

China Rose grew up all over finding that home is where the heart is. She moved to Austin from Durango, Colorado with her daughter in 2015. A renaissance woman, China's jobs have varied from sushi chef to landscaping. Now she helps coordinate inventory and orders for Nature's Treasures Online. Outside of work, she enjoys skateboarding, cooking and swimming, and aspires to breed insects and become a mermaid someday!

Austin Agates Exclusive

El Sueco Agate is from Chihuahua Province and is found near Rancho Coyamito, where the famous Coyamito agate is found!

Notes on Agates:

Silica is the key component to agate formation since it belongs to the quartz family made up of SiO₂. Because of their beauty and durability, agates have
