Happy Valentine's Day!

Will You Be Our Valentine?

The shopping has begun! Amanda, Michael and I are in Tucson already and will be here for 3 more weeks. Wait until you see the fabulous stones in the new jewelry Michael picked out today. And look at the breath taking size and beauty of some of the largest amethyst in the world. We probably won't be able to bring home something quite this large, but I promise we've selected a vast assortment of mineral pieces that parallel in quality despite being a bit smaller that will hopefully fit in your budget a little better.

I wanted to quickly mention that we are having our biannual Jewelry Bazaar this weekend featuring all local artists and their creations. This was such a success last year that we decided to do two Bazaar's this year and the booths sold out fast. So, those artisans who missed the opportunity to be in this year's first event, be sure to register now for our fall Bazaar by e-mailing community@ntrocks.com. We are hoping to expand the number of booths in the fall to better accommodate both our customers and the vendors.

This month we will be recognizing President's Day, The Chinese New Year beginning (check our social media for store activities), and my favorite VALENTINE'S DAY!!! I think any day that promotes loving energy should be honored and celebrated in abundance. When investigating just how such a holiday came to be, I learned that the first valentine was actually sent by Saint Valentine in the form of a letter in the year 270, right before he was executed on February 14th. It took about 200 more years before a famous poet in the Middle Ages helped attribute a romantic context to the day.

Nature's Treasures has the perfect Valentine's gifts for most everyone. What better gift to give than something made by Mother Nature that has loving energy like Rose Quartz, Rhodochrosite and Rhodonite. These minerals all vibrate and transmit love energy to yourself and to others. Share the loving energy in these minerals with a candle holder, a fabulous piece of jewelry, a lamp or a simple rose quartz heart as a token of your love. The store is filled with options for your special Valentine. Come check out what awaits you. Remember a rock will last lots longer than candy or flowers.

The Treasure Tome: A Trove of Knowledge

Love is not a day of the year, it is a lifetime of choices beginning with the self.

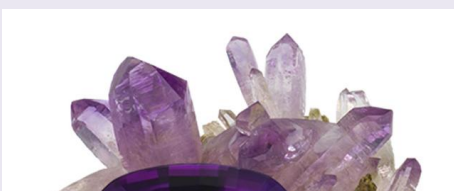

The Love Stone Triad

By Michael J. Kallstrom, MS Geosciences

"The greatest thing you'll ever learn,/is just to love and be loved in return." ~Eden Ahbez, 1947

Love has acquired many different names and definitions over the centuries. Regardless of which type you look at though, all forms of Love require a subject, namely one's self or someone/something else. It is important to balance the love of self with the love of others, lest we become sociopaths or lose ourselves completely to the world around us.

February Birthstone Amethyst

Amethyst makes the perfect birthstone for the month of February as it is believed that Saint Valentine wore on February as it is believed that Saint Valentine wore an amethyst ring carved to depict Cupid. As one of the most beautiful gems with a royal purple hue as well as one of the most durable gems with a Mohs hardness of 7 and no cleavage planes, this stone truly signifies a love that will last.

Despite being named in ancient Greece, this stone was sacred to the Egyptians, and today is most commonly found in Brazil and Uruguay. Amethyst has a rich history and has thus been attributed countless metaphysical properties. In some cultures Amethyst is worn to ward off evil, while in others it is kept to attract true love. In modern times Amethyst has been carried as a talisman to fight addictions such as smoking and alcoholism. This gem may also be kept by the bedside to promote pleasant dreams, dispel nightmares and incite lucid dreaming. Regardless of the mode, Amethyst is most commonly considered a stone of spiritual and emotional healing, allowing individuals to open themselves to receiving Spirit and reconnecting with Oneness.

Austin's Crystal Whisperer What are your crystals telling you?

Dianna, Austin's Crystal Whisperer offers her Personal Crystal Readings to help you find, understand and connect with the rocks, minerals and crystals that are perfect for you!

Nance grew up in Pennsylvania before moving to the Southwest to finish her education in Arizona. In addition to being a semi-retired optician, Nance works at Nature's Treasures as an Event Coordinator, Aura Reader and Front Counter Staff Member. In any role Nance loves learning new things and assisting customers and coworkers. She loves nature and exploring, and utilizes her intuitiveness and massage training in 'assisted touch meditation'. Despite a busy family life, she reads oracle cards and loves to create, write, garden and photograph nature when time allows.
