

Orange Room Hot Topics December 2020

Parent Education

For the month of December I have chosen this article "Ways to Encourage Self-Help Skills In Children." Children from an early age have a strong desire to be independent. While they are in the Orange Room, they wash their own hands, put their belongings away, and help clean up the class. They want to be helpful as well as mimic your every move. As they grow they want more challenging tasks for example helping with some of the household chores vacuum, sweep, rake leaves etc.

I know that sometimes it's faster to do things for them, but your child is thriving to be independent and this is to help build the confidence and to build their self-esteem and so much more.
