UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

“These Walls”

by Timothy Bushong

This song was commissioned in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Westlake United Methodist Church.

These walls were built for praise that we might have a place to come and congregate to serve the Risen Lord.

With doors that open wide to welcome all inside and do our best to try to serve the Risen Lord.

These walls -
These walls have heard our shouts of joy and celebration These walls - These walls have heard our cries of pain and desperation
And the saints who came before us surely thought Let's build these walls to build the Kingdom of God.

A home to come and pray
To love our hurt away and never be afraid to serve the Risen Lord

Do all the good we can as long as we all can and be the working hands to serve the Risen Lord

Our prayers and our presence, Our gifts and our service And always our witness!

These walls were built for praise So let our voices raise and always seek the Grace of the Risen Lord

With every song we sing With every gift we bring This great commissioning To build the Kingdom of God!
