Volunteers needed!

Interested in joining us?

After 38 projects around the world,

the donation of time and hands-on labor by former U.S. President Jimmy Carter and former first lady Rosalynn Carter continues to inspire and multiply Habitat for Humanity's global impact. These large-scale building projects raise awareness of the critical need for affordable housing – the heart of Habitat's mission. Through the Jimmy & Rosalynn Carter Work Project:

More than 108,100 volunteers have built, renovated and repaired
4,447 homes in 14 countries.

The 2025 Carter Work Project will expand Austin Habitat for Humanity's construction efforts into eastern Travis County, Texas, with Whisper Valley, a revolutionary community committed to sustainability. Situated between Tesla's Gigafactory and Samsung's $7 billion production facility, Whisper Valley will be the first fully geothermal neighborhood in the U.S. Homes will feature geothermal heat pumps and solar panels and be designed to generate more energy than they consume, achieving a Home Energy Rating System rating of 25. Residents will benefit from Signature Park – over 600 acres; a 26-mile hike and bike trail; pocket parks; multiple community centers; community gardens; two gas stations; and on-site elementary, middle and high schools.

What

During the 2025 Jimmy & Rosalynn Carter Work Project, volunteers and community members will build 25 new homes in partnership with families in need of affordable housing. The project will celebrate the 40th anniversary of Austin Habitat for Humanity and will launch Austin Habitat's construction efforts at Whisper Valley, a 2,063-acre planned community. When completed, Whisper Valley will deliver more than 7,000 homes, including over 700 income-tested affordable homes, ensuring the community is accessible to everyone. Whisper Valley focuses on sustainability, technology, healthy living and affordability. Every home in the community is designed with an EcoSmart system that integrates solar and geothermal technology and is 100% net-zero. All residents also will have access to 700 acres of parks, trails and pools. With the Carter Work Project, Austin Habitat for Humanity is launching its "Blueprint for a Brighter Future" capital campaign, expanding annual home construction from 21 to 75 homes per year. Over the life span of these homes, thousands of families will enjoy the safety, stability and wealth-building potential of affordable homeownership.
