

Utilizing EmconIT is an effective way to significantly reduce data center costs and receive the help and expertise when you need it most for your data center hardware.

We understand IT managers are constantly faced with the task of finding cost containment solutions that reduce spend without compromising service and quality. With that being said, the option of post warranty support is often overlooked by the temptation of refreshing hardware after the initial warranty expires. BUT WHY? If your hardware is operational, why not get a few extra years out of it instead of paying a fortune for new hardware?

EmconIT can help maintain that data center hardware for as long as it's needed at a fraction of the cost. Not only do we provide industry leading service and support needed to keep your environment running at maximum uptime, we also offer a 24x7 domestic call center, flexible SLA's, free spare parts on-site and much more!
