GOOD NEIGHBOR SCRIPT™

10 Healthy Habits You Can Stick with All Year

rigid diet or strenuous workout may not be the best way to reach your goals. In fact, making drastic lifestyle changes can backfire when you're trying to develop healthy habits. You may start the year feeling gung-ho about cutting out carbs or going to daily spin classes only to be disappointed later when it's difficult to sustain

Long-lasting healthy habits develop gradually and start to shake up your routine for 2019 and set yourself up

- 1. Start a food diary. Try tracking everything you eat for a week. Being aware of your current eating habits is the first step toward improving them. A food diary can be an especially valuable tool for weight loss. Participants in a intake lost twice as much weight as those who didn't
- 2. Make breakfast at home. Instead of heading to the your own quick, healthy breakfast to either eat at home or on the go. Bake a batch of whole-grain fruit muffins each morning. Wrap some leftover meat and veggies in a soft tortilla with a splash of salsa and a sprinkle of and healthy options to choose from!
- 3. Keep healthy snacks at work. If you have a stash of healthy things to munch on at your workstation, you'll be less tempted by the vending machines loaded with junk food or the candy jar on your co-worker's desk. Nuts, fresh and dried fruits, pumpkin and sunflower seeds and low-fat microwave popcorn are some healthier options to keep on hand.
- 4. Slow down. Sometimes speed eating is the culprit for overeating. If you're gulping down your meals too quickly, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) has some suggestions to curtail that habit. For example, you might try putting your fork down between bites or from noticing how fast and how much you're eating.

- 5. Keep healthy food in sight. Instead of tucking all your produce in the crisper drawer where you'll forget about it, set a bowl of fruit on the counter. Store healthy foods in
- 6. Schedule your workouts. Treat exercise like a regular appointment you make with yourself. That could mean suggests, committing to get on the treadmill while you watch your favorite evening TV programs.
- 7. Find a buddy. Taking a class with a friend or walking fun and easier to stick with. But your buddy doesn't necessarily need to exercise with you. Sometimes it helps to simply have someone on your team to whom you're accountable - and who will give you an
- 8. Mix it up. To avoid boredom and decrease risk of injury, the Mayo Clinic recommends cross-training with a variety of activities that exercise different parts of the body. You might break up your 30-minute exercise walking, weight training and swimming laps. Or, you could alternate between different activities on different days of the week. For instance, you might go running one day for a good aerobic exercise that strengthens your leg muscles and take a yoga class the next day to work on your core strength, flexibility and balance.
- 9. Sacrifice convenience. Force yourself to move a little more by parking farther away from the entrance when you go shopping or by taking the stairs instead of the elevator in your office building.
- 10. Track your progress. The American Heart Association's tips for long-term fitness success include logging your physical activities and even noting how you feel after exercising. When you've reached a milestone like working your way up from a daily walk eager to see, order the latest book by your favorite

Health & Fitness

Demystifying the Vitamin Aisle: Supplements to Take at Every Age

Walking down the vitamin aisle can be daunting. With hundreds of options, how do you know which to take? needs at each age. Here's how to select the right vitamins to support your health at every stage of life.

Age 20s and 30s. Getting plenty of bone-boosting K is important because your bones don't reach their recommends that women in their child bearing years take 400 micrograms of folic acid daily to support a healthy pregnancy.

Age 40s. Omega-3 fatty acids can help fight the inflammation and cognitive decline that begins after age 40, according to The Arthritis Foundation. A and strong. Opt for oil from wild-caught fish that has tested negative for mercury.

Age 50s. Because hone loss accelerates once vou are in your 50s, it's essential to supplement your diet with vitamin D and calcium. The National Institute on Aging advises that women age 50-70 need at least 600 IU of Age 60+. Older adults are more at risk of vitamin B12 deficiency, which can cause fatigue, anemia and neurological problems. That's why doctors recvitamin each day once you are in your 60s. Low B12 levels may put you at risk for dementia, according to recommends supplementing with a multivitamin to Follow us on social media!

MvGNP

GoodNeighborPharmacy

MyGNP

KOVACS FREY PHARMACY "Locally Owned, Locally Operated, Locally Loved" 2860 Artesia Boulevard Redondo Beach, CA 90278 Local Delivery Diabetes Supplies

Phone: (310) 371-7541 Fax: (310) 542-1488

 Wound Care
 Most Major Insurance Accepted kovacsfrey.com

Prep Time

Cook Time

January Recipe

Sole in Parchment with Warm Date and Apricot Salad

This heart-healthy dish is packed with lean protein and good fats, while also bursting provides a slightly sweet, subtle crunch and beautiful color. Plus, as a cooking vessel parchment paper is a cook's best friend. It means one less pot to clean, and when you sit

Ingredients

¼ pound organic baby spinach

4 or 5 sprigs organic fresh flat-leaf parsley

1 teaspoon sumac

1. Prep the shallots, sole, and lemon

Heat the oven to 400°F

- Peel and thinly slice enough shallots to measure ¼ cup
- season lightly with salt and pepper.

Kids Can!

- · Measure the shallots.
- · Juice the lemon.
- · Fold up the parchment packets.
- · Pull the dates away from their pits.
- · Strip the parsley leaves.

2. Assemble the parchment packets

Lay the parchment paper sheets side by side. Divide the shallots and spinach between the 2 sheets and season with salt and pepper. Top with the sole and lemon slices. Drizzle and fold them together several times to create a tight seam. Fold up each end to form

3. Bake the packets

Place the packets on a sheet pan, sealed sides up, and bake until the parchment is

4. Make the date and apricot salad

- · Pull the dates away from their pits; thinly slice the dates.

In a medium frying pan over medium heat, warm 2 teaspoons oil until hot but not smoking. Add the apricots, dates and almonds and cook, stirring occasionally, until just warmed through, 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in the lemon zest and juice, parsley, and sumac; season to taste with salt and pepper.

Open the sole packets, being careful of any venting steam, and transfer to individual

Enjoy healthy, easy recipes with organic produce and clean ingredients delivered to your door weekly. Get $35 off your first Sun Basket delivery at bit.ly/gnpsunbasket.

Ask a Pharmacist

Is It Possible to Take Too Many Vitamins?

The liver and kidneys are generally very efficient at removing excess vitamins and nutrients that the body does not need. However, long-term overuse of certain vitamins can be harmful. Even though over-the-counter vitamins and without a doctor's supervision, it is recommended to talk to your doctor or pharmacist before taking vitámins. Vitamins may interact with other vitamins or prescription medications and

You can also talk to your pharmacist about the differences in vitamin quality and absorption and vitamins you need in order to achieve the results exercise and daily outdoor activity will satisfy

Benjamin McNabb

Local V Love Vic's Family Pharmacy

"Our community depends on us because they know we sincerely care about patient outcomes and see the value in relationships."

How many years has Vic's Family Pharmacy been in business?

What role does your independent pharmacy play in your local community?

We bring compounding, special packaging, immunizations, nutritionals and other services to our community, and we perform well. Our community depends on us because they know we sincerely care about patient outcomes and see the value in relationships.

What is competition like in your area?

Our success has passed the test of time, even with large chain pharmacies like Walmart and Walgreens in town.

What makes you unique and sets you apart from the competition?

apart from other pharmacies is that we are very good at meeting special needs. The most important thing we want is for our customers to feel that we are open to answering