Situation Overview

Background

Indonesia was struck by a magnitude 7.0 earthquake at 7:46 pm local time on 5 August 2018, 3 km SSE of Loloan on Lombok Island. A tsunami warning was issued but later cancelled. This follows a shallow magnitude 6.4 earthquake that struck Lombok on 29 July 2018. The first quake displaced 8,871 people and damaged 14,940 houses. North and East Lombok Island were the most affected, and some remote areas had not been reached as of 4 August.

Initial damage reports for the 5 August earthquake say North Lombok and the three Gili Islands have been the most impacted. National search and rescue teams and the Indonesian Red Cross are attempting to reach the areas and are conducting evacuations. There are reports that 90% of structures in North Lombok have been destroyed and that medical teams are needed. Around 3,848,000 people exposed to intensity V-VII MMI shaking.

General Needs

6 Aug:

- Citizens still need tarps, blankets, tents, flashlights, baby equipment, portable toilets and drinking water. source
- 5 Aug: 4:42pm The urgent need at the moment is medical personnel, clean water, food, blankets, mats, tents, fast food, trauma healing services and other basic needs. source

4 Aug:

- 4 Aug via report from Head of BNPB Information and Public Relations Center - BMKG noted that there had been over 560 earthquakes. There are still some affected communities in remote areas that have not been touched due to access to a difficult location. There are still some problems in handling refugees such as limited clean water, MCK, sanitation, food, meeting basic daily needs, and others. In addition, independent refugees namely refugees who set up tents or refugee camps in their yard still need help. Sweeping and evacuation is needed at the climbing location in the Gunung Rinjani National Park area involving the TNI, Police, Basarnas, BTNGR, volunteers and others. Report
