Health and Hospitals

[support@humanityroad.org] [www.humanityroad.org] [Support our work]
Status of Hospitals

- Hospitals in Palu are understaffed with doctors and overflowing with patients already and now the health conditions in central Sulawesi Island are deteriorating. Oct 7 [Source]

- Doctors have said they are already starting to see an increase in diarrhoea and skin rashes, but there are even more serious risks of tuberculosis and cholera outbreaks. Oct 7 [Source]

- Nine hospitals, one field hospitals and four naval hospital ships are providing health services. In four isolated districts in Sigi, military is providing medical support using helicopters. In Donggala District, Kabelota Hospital is operating with the support of generator sets, clean water is still limited, and hazardous and toxic waste-processing facilities are unavailable due to lack of electricity. Incubators in health clinics have also been damaged. Oct 6 [Source]

- The Emergency Room (ER) Team - Battalion Health 2/2 Kostrad, Malang, East Java for the earthquake’s countermeasure in Central Sulawesi serves 100 patients every day. This team lacks general practitioners and specialists to take care of the patients that were injured by earthquakes and lack of medicine. Oct 5 [Source]

- According to the WHO, so far 21 health facilities are known to be affected. Damage to other health facilities is in the process of being assessed. 480 medical personnel are on the ground and rapid health assessments are being conducted. According to BNPB (National Disaster Management Agency), one of the major needs is field hospitals. The Ministry of Health has stated that the national capacity for medical personnel and medical logistics are sufficient to deal with the situation. Source 4 Oct

- The main government hospital in Palu collapsed. Source 1 Oct

- An average of 100 people are visiting Red Cross basic healthcare clinics each day. Around 30% of patients are suffering from diarrhoea and skin rashes. Source 6 Oct

- The Salvation Army’s Woodward Hospital in Palu suffered minor damage, but it has been temporarily patched. They are continuing to provide medical assistance to hundreds of injured people at Woodward Hospital. The have set up a trauma care programme in some of the makeshift tented communities that have been set up around the city. Two separate medical teams have now reached more remote villages outside the city, with the intention to enhance this outreach as numbers of available doctors and nurses increase. Source 4 Oct, source 1 Oct

- Red Cross volunteers have reached the settlement of Banawa, in Donggala, where every home along the shoreline was wiped out by the tsunami. The team has described Banawa as the worst affected area they have so far seen. The survivors have been evacuated - or have travelled independently - to neighbouring houses in the hills, where they are in need of health care, tents, blankets, baby food, and diapers. Source 5 Oct

- International Medical Corps offers field hospital
  - Int’l Medical Corps has a team in Palu and three personnel available in Jakarta. The organisation offer a field hospital with full service including radiology that could cover 66 patients, 12 minor surgery, and up to 12 major surgery. Source 2 Oct

- Sulawesi - Health Risks
  - Malaria is considered to have medium level of malaria transmission to malaria. Health authorities have identified that the risk of transmission may increase as environmental management is disrupted due to the disaster. Source 20 Oct
- Schistosomiasis (snail fever) currently present in 28 villages in two districts. specifically endemic in three neighbouring areas: Napu, Lindu and Bada valleys, all located in the highlands of Central Sulawesi province. Lack of clean, water & basic medical services will be disrupted hence the risk of disease transmission will increase. Aha S4 2Oct

- Central Sulawesi - At the Mamboro health clinic in Palu, Doctor Sasono says "His clinic has no power and is running out of medical supplies". Source 1Oct

- Makassar City Hospital South Sulawesi is able to accommodate up to 200 refugees of earthquake victims. source 2Oct

- Balikpapan City Government, East Kalimantan prepared three hospitals, the Kanujoso Djatiwibowo Hospital, dr Hardjanto Army Hospital, and Bhayangkara Hospital to be used by the earthquake refugees. 2Oct source

- Balikpapan also sent medicines and 26 people to the health team. "We do not send specialist doctors and surgeons because it is not possible to carry out surgery there. The equipment is inadequate. So, victims who have to be operated on can later be referred to hospitals in Balikpapan." Source 2 Oct

- Residents are queuing at the Port Health Office in the Bandara Mutiara SIS Al-Jufrie, Palu, Central Sulawesi, Thursday (4/10/2018). Residents that evacuated because of the earthquake are starting to get Ispa, diarrhea, and fever. The supply of medicine isn't enough because the transportation road hasn't recovered and the fuel is still lacking. Source

Special Needs Populations

Status

- Arbeiter-Samariter-Bund (ASB) has a team coming from Yogyakarta to Palu to assess the needs of and provide support for the affected population with disabilities. source 2 Oct

- At least 1,500 residents of Jonooge Village, Biromaru Subdistrict, Sigi Regency in Central Sulawesi, as of Tuesday (02/10/2018) are still in refuge state because their homes were mostly damaged by the earthquake last week. They continue to survive even though food reserves continue to run low. Most of the villagers are women, elderly, children and toddlers. They really need food and drinking water. There are no health tents and medical personnel who can be asked for help. Currently they need fast food, drinking water and medicine. source

- Toddler victims of the Central Sulawesi earthquake are starting to suffer from influenza. Source
