

Chlorambucil

What does chlorambucil use to treat?

Chlorambucil is a generic drug for Leukeran®. It is an immune system suppressing and anticancer drug that is used to treat certain types of cancers such as lymphoma, leukemia, and multiple myeloma. It can also be used as a supplemental treatment for some immune-mediated diseases such as inflammatory bowel disease (IBD).

What are the side effects of chlorambucil on cats or dogs?

Side effects may include fur or hair loss in some breeds, damage to the kidneys or the liver, low blood cells, and low white blood cell and platelet count.

If you suspect any side effects, overdose, or an adverse reaction to chlorambucil, call your vet office immediately or A.S.P.C.A.'s Animal Poison Control Center at 888.426.4435. A change in dose or medication may be warranted based on the determination of the veterinarian.

How do I know if I need chlorambucil to treat my cat or dog?

Some signs of immune system suppression that can be displayed in your pet include the following: abnormal swelling that persists or continues to grow, sores that do not heal, unexplained weight loss, loss of appetite, and pale gums.

Other signs may include:

- Difficulty eating or swallowing.
- Bleeding or discharge from any opening such as the nose or mouth.
- Bad odor, especially from the mouth.
- Difficulty breathing, urinating, or defecating.

Where can I get chlorambucil to treat my cat or dog?
