

Hi, I just wanted to drop a quick note and express how absolutely against the idea of people erecting balconies over existing decks. We specifically purchased our condo with a deck. We enjoy our sunny deck, and not only would it ruin our view, but it would cover the sunlight that comes in our condo and onto our deck. I would instead have a shaded and icy deck, no thank you! If the individual who would suggest such a ridiculous idea wanted a private outdoor space, they should have bought one! Thank you for listening to my input.
